

articULATE

REAL & CLEAR

REAL COMMUNICATION IS AN ART

Robin A. Miller, Ph. D, COO & Lead ARTiculator

Robin A. Miller is an energetic, motivational keynote speaker who has also spent over 20 years in teaching, training and coaching. Her specialty is in guiding the well thought individual to become confidently well spoken from interviews, to meetings, to keynotes. Her clients come from a variety of businesses including Coors, University of Denver Daniel's School of Business, the NFL and Sterisil.

Robin Miller is a smart, skillful and effective coach for professionals wanting to improve their public speaking abilities. She taught me how to make my presentations more interesting through the use of stories and anecdotes; she also helped me find ways to bring a sense of authenticity to my presentations and coached me through my nervousness. She's just terrific.

- Ginni Ishimatsu, University of Denver

She has performed vocally and conducted numerous musical groups throughout her career, as well as taught music at Baylor University, The University of North Texas, and Texas Christian University.

Robin's positions as business communication coach at the Denver Center for the Performing Arts, as Customer Relationship Manager in the financial industry, Development Specialist in some of Denver's leading Level 1 trauma centers, and her advanced training in mediation and crucial conversations have provided expertise in navigating all forms of business communication.

I have gathered so many wonderful tips, tricks and insights to not only help me with my upcoming presentation, but, to help me with work and my everyday life as well!

-Lisa Meriweather, Project Manager

Robin earned an MM in Music, a PhD from the University of North Texas in Musicology, and a Master of Divinity from Iliff School of Theology.

ARTiculate: Real&Clear provides a powerful medium to assist individuals to understand the importance of their voice—literally and metaphorically. In turn, once you tap that voice, you then have an open forum to inspire others.

- John Regentin, AEE